

Scott Floyd
May 6, 2010

How would you communicate with someone who does not use facilitated communication?

Not very well. My voice is weird. I repeat what others say and it makes lots of people mad. I can't stop myself from doing it. Very pleasing people understand.

It is not useful to read my body language. I say it best typing. Not signing either. Not many people know it.

Please understand. I want a chance. Typing is hard to do. To type with me people need to decide I am smart and capable.