The following information was provided by AssistiveWare Support in response to an inquiry regarding proloquo2go.

We have plenty of video check out our YouTube page & News Page. Please know that we are unable to offer specific recommendations for device programming and end-user implementation. AAC set up and training is a highly individualized process, and it is not possible for us to give accurate and ethical recommendations when we have not met the individual in person or worked with him or her in the environments in which communication needs to occur.

We recognize and respect the role of an AAC professional working directly with the individual and his or her team in determining the most appropriate methodology for an individual with complex communication challenges. If you don’t have access to an AAC professional, you could contact one of our Resource Centers nearest you for guidance.

However, we do provide a wide range of multimedia resources for those who need to learn the technical details of customizing and deploying Proloquo2Go.

Our webinar series helps individuals others in the customization and deployment of Proloquo2Go. Individuals who register for and attend all live sessions can receive a Proloquo2Go Presenter/Trainer certification and can be listed on our website.

Be sure to keep an eye on our webinars page as we plan to repeat sessions and announce new sessions. In addition to our live webinars, previously recorded webinar sessions are available on iTunes as a video podcast.

We also have numerous step-by-step tutorials, documentation, and introductory videos to walk you through the process of customizing and operating Proloquo2Go.

Note that many of the above resources may feature a version of Proloquo2Go that is different than what is currently available. While some things may be different, the basic functionality is the same.
