

The School of Education Difference

At SOE you'll join a carefully selected graduate cohort of approximately 1,000 graduate students advancing the future of education and human services through equity-driven interdisciplinary research, groundbreaking experiential pedagogy, and collaborative inclusive practices.

You'll find a welcoming community that supports diverse perspectives and your distinct potential, giving you the transformative skills you need to provide effective learning experiences for all—as a scholar, educator, counselor, social worker, and leader.

“SOE offers abundant avenues for students to gain valuable classroom experience and maintains a steadfast commitment to supporting their professional journey.”

Raquell Carpenter '23, G'24

- Benefit from novel research opportunities, best-in-class clinical practices, mentored field placements, and graduate assistantships that connect coursework to real world settings.
- Enjoy small class sizes, personal advising, and close relationships with faculty and staff, with all the benefits of attending a dynamic R1 research institution.
- Student-centered faculty are experts in their fields who produce groundbreaking research, collaborate across campus and throughout the educational community, and mentor their students for success.
- Our three centers—in disability and inclusion, student development, and experiential pedagogy—form the core of our scholarship and practice and offer opportunities to expand your academic portfolio.

99%

Graduate pass rate for New York State's Educating All Students certificate (2024 teacher preparation exams)

$6.6M

External funding awards

#15

Best Graduate Programs in Education—Private, Four-Year Institutions (U.S. News & World Report)

30,500+

Proud and committed alumni network

We're here to help you start your Syracuse journey!

Breana Nieves Vergara
Assistant Director of Graduate Admissions
bknieves@syr.edu | 315.443.2505

suschoolofed

Syracuse University School of Education

#ProudToBeSOE

soe.syr.edu/admissions/graduate

Syracuse University
School of Education

Advancing the Future of Education

Live the Orange Experience

Discover a bold, spirited community where you'll find myriad ways to be yourself—and belong to something bigger. In any given year, Syracuse University is home to more than 22,500 students, representing all 50 states and more than 120 countries.

The University offers many organizations, cultural events, health and wellness activities, and other programs that showcase and honor an abundance of cultures.

Campus Highlights

- > Relax with friends at the Schine and Goldstein student centers
- > Raise the roof at the JMA Wireless Dome
- > Re-charge and de-stress at the Barnes Center at The Arch

Small Town Feel, Big City Experiences

Syracuse is located in the heart of Central New York, with access to major cities such as New York, Boston, Toronto, Washington, DC, and Philadelphia. In CNY, students benefit from a lower-than-average cost of living that translates into more affordable housing and more living and entertainment expenses.

What to Explore

- > Finger Lakes—Gorgeous water and picturesque towns, surrounded by CNY's wine country.
- > Adirondacks—Canoeing, camping, cross country skiing, and much more.
- > Historic attractions—From the National Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown.

Open New Possibilities: Academic Programs

> Significant scholarships are available for new School of Education master's and certificate students. Social Work students have opportunities to receive financial aid through the School of Social Work. All applicants are considered for aid upon submission of application.

> GRE not required for any graduate program and previous experience not required for most.

> Programs with an * asterisk meet academic requirements for New York State teacher certification.

Master's Degree Programs

Teacher Preparation

Arts Education (PreK-Grade 12)*
Childhood Education (Grades 1-6)*
English Education (Grades 7-12)*
Literacy Education (Birth-Grade 12)*
Mathematics Education (Grades 7-12)*
Music Education (PreK-Grade 12)*
Science Education (Grades 7-12)*
Social Studies Education (Grades 7-12)*

Inclusive and Special Education

Inclusive Special Education (Grades 1-6)*
Inclusive Special Education (Grades 7-12 Generalist)*

Educational Research and Leadership

Cultural Foundations of Education
Higher Education
Teaching and Curriculum

Human Services

Clinical Mental Health Counseling
School Counseling (P-12)
Social Work (online option; advanced standing M.S.W. available)
J.D./Social Work

Instructional Design

Instructional Design, Development, and Evaluation (online option)

Certificates of Advanced Study

Designing Digital Instruction (online)
Disability Studies (online option)
Educational Leadership* (online)
Instructional Design Foundations (online option)
Intercollegiate Athletic Advising and Support

Doctoral Programs

Ed.D. in Educational Leadership
Ph.D. in Counseling and Counselor Education
Ph.D. in Education

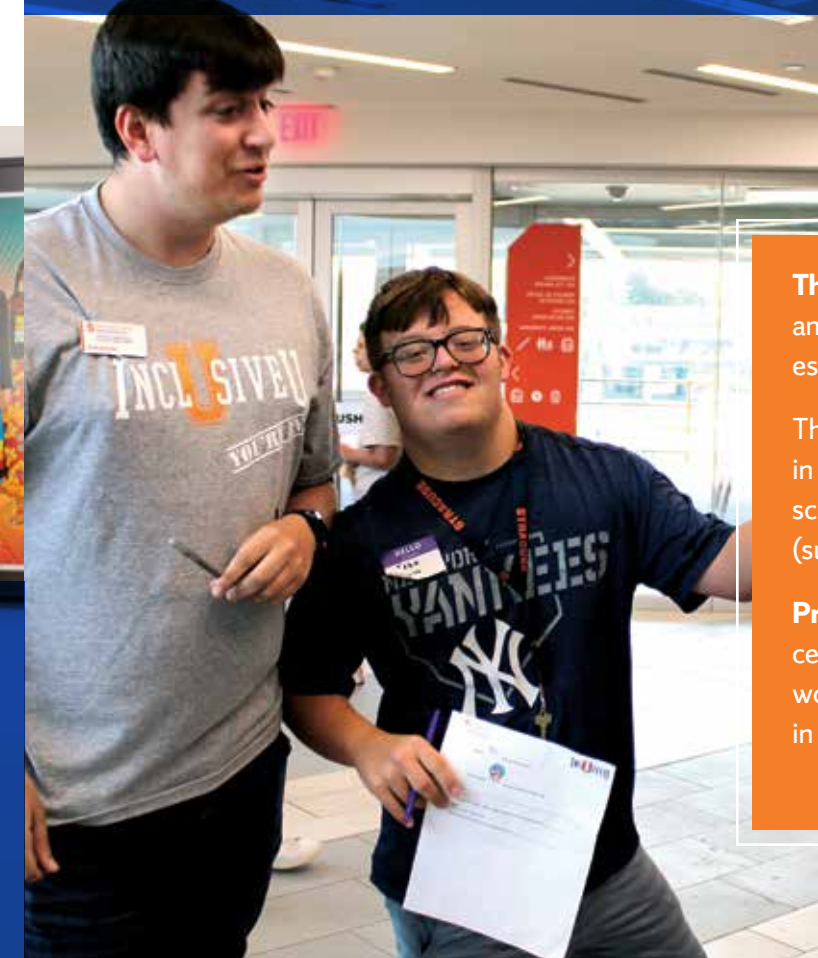

“I think the best thing about Syracuse University is all of the connections I've made. When they say ‘SU's really a networking University,’ it really is.”

Bailey Tlachac G'23

“I know my professors always have 10 million things to do, but I never felt like I was less of a priority whenever we spoke. I aspire to emulate this.”

Phyllandra Smith G'22

Learning for All

The School of Education's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion is rooted in the belief that multiple points of view, life experiences, ethnicities, cultures, and belief systems are essential to academic excellence.

Honoring this commitment, we foster a learning community that promotes equitable study, research, and practice.

As pioneers in the disability and inclusion movement—and through programs such as InclusiveU—we have made it possible for all learners to participate in effective learning experiences, regardless of background or ability.

The School of Education is dedicated to the idea that teachers and human service providers from all backgrounds have an essential impact on young learners.

The Baldanza Fellows Program is helping to recruit teachers in Syracuse schools by providing student teachers with full scholarships, cost-of-living stipends, and a hiring commitment (subject to availability) after graduation.

Project IMPRESS aims to recruit, prepare, and retain fully certified special education teachers and school counselors to work with students with disabilities with high-intensity needs in high-needs schools, through scholarships and stipends.